June's Featured Program...

Speaker: Harold Lipian, Founder and President, Introtech

Topic: Cargo Securement

Date: June 26, 2019

Time: 7:30 AM - 9:00 AM

Location: MAPS Air Museum

As the founder and President of Intro tech, Inc., Henry Lipian brings 30 years of law enforcement and investigative experience. He retired as a Lieutenant with over 31 years of service as both an enlisted and a commissioned officer in the United States Coast Guard (both active and reserve). His past experience includes nearly eight years of service as a trooper on the Ohio State Highway Patrol and two years as a sergeant on the Hunting Valley Ohio Police Department.

During his years in the U.S. Coast Guard, Mr. Lipian received special training in the field of watercraft crash investigation. In the course of his service, he has responded to hundreds of watercraft cases both as an on-scene commander and as a rescue coordinator (Great Lakes Region Controller). He has served as Engineering Officer on both active and reserve duty, including the Persian Gulf during Operation Desert Shield/Storm.

Mr. Lipian graduated from the Underwriter Laboratory School in Advanced Boating Accident Investigation and the National Boating Safe School. His formal education includes a Bachelor of Specialized Studies from Ohio University in Athens and an Associate Degree in Arts from Thomas Edison College. In addition, Mr. Lipian teaches accident investigation at various schools and seminars throughout Ohio and Florida.

Mr. Lipian is a member in good standing with the American Society of Military Engineers (A.S.M.E.), Association of Professional Accident Reconstruction Specialists, Society of Automotive Engineers, and the National Association for the Advancement of Automotive Medicine.

DEB'S SAFETY CORNER

Q: What is the first aid for a tick bite?

A: Most tick bites are painless and cause only minor signs and symptoms, such as redness, swelling or a sore on the skin. But some ticks transmit bacteria that cause illnesses, including Lyme disease and Rocky Mountain spotted fever. In general, to transmit Lyme disease a tick needs to be attached for at least 36 hours. Other infections can be transferred in a few hours or even a few minutes says the Mayo Clinic.

First Aid:

- Remove the tick promptly and carefully. Use fine-tipped forceps or tweezers to grasp the tick as close to your skin as possible. Gently pull out the tick using a slow and steady upward motion. Avoid twisting or squeezing the tick. Don't handle the tick with bare hands. Experts don't recommend using petroleum jelly, fingernail polish or a hot match to remove a tick.
- If possible, seal the tick in a container. Put the container in a freezer. Your doctor may want to see the tick if you develop new symptoms.
- Wash your hands and the bite site using warm water and soap, rubbing alcohol, or an iodine scrub.

When to Seek Emergency Care: Call 911 or your local emergency number if you develop:

- A severe headache
- Difficulty breathing
- Paralysis
- Heart palpitations

When to contact your doctor:

- If you can't completely remove the tick
- The rash gets bigger
- You develop flu-like signs and symptoms
- You think the bite site is infected
- You think you were bitten by a deer tick

NATIONAL SAFETY MONTH

JUNE IS NATIONAL SAFETY MONTH

According to the National Safety Council's (NSC's) Injury Facts, three people in the U.S. die every 10 minutes from preventable accidents. To raise awareness of the leading causes of injury and death at work, on the road, and in our homes and communities, the NSC designates each June as National Safety Month. Once again, the NSC will focus on a safety issue each week of the month.

This first week starts with a logical topic: Hazard recognition. After all, the best way to avoid a hazard is to recognize it exists. The NSC says, "Once you train yourself to spot hazards, you'll notice them all around you. They may not always be obvious or immediate concerns, but they can still pose a risk to you and your co-workers. The sooner they're fixed, the better."

The NSC has free materials, including posters, tip sheets, articles, family activities, special offers, social graphics and more at: <https://safety.nsc.org/national-safety-month-2019-post-launch>
